uWin[08] Programming Editor
In Continual State of Improvement

Distortion Free Sizing of Objects

The uWin[08] Programming Editor has a patent pending feature that saves the programmer from having to size a bitmap in another photo editing software, and then bring it onto the screen. You can size an object whichever way you want it within the uWin[08] Programming Editor itself. It saves you the headache of going back and forth between two software programs.